MENTOR GUIDELINES AND CODE OF CONDUCT

Mentoring is not a panacea for all the problems and issues related to personal and professional life of your mentee and his/her family. The essence of mentoring is the sustained human relationship. Your commitment and dedication to your mentee may be the most profound opportunity that you experience. The quality of the relationship you build directly influences the life and future of your mentee.

Please exert every effort to maintain professional standards, improve your mentor skills, and exercise good judgment when engaged in any activity involving your mentee.

As a mentor you are a: POSITIVE ROLE MODEL AND CAREER COUNSELOR.

Please read carefully, the following guidelines and your roles as a mentor-

1. At the initial stages, your mentee may appear to be hesitant, unresponsive, and unappreciative of the mentor-mentee relationship. This guarded attitude is simply a manifestation of his/her insecurity about the relationship. The mentee's attitude will gradually take a positive turn as he/she realizes your sincerity about being a good guide in terms of mentor.
2. Like any other relation mentor-mentee relationship has an initial phase. During this phase the mentee is more interested in getting to know how "real" you are and how much he/she can trust you. So give adequate time to buildup the mutual faith and trust.
3. Establish how you can reach your mentee: by phone, e-mail, or at a designated meeting location like class room/ tutorial room (most preferred). As far as possible all meetings should be scheduled in advanced and should be in notice to the HOD/Dean/Principal.
4. Don't try to be teacher, parent, disciplinarian and psychotherapist during mentor mentee meetings.
5. Don't criticize or preach. Think of ways to solve the problem together rather than lecturing or telling the mentee what to do. Never have a negative attitude towards your mentee.
6. Respect the uniqueness and honor the integrity of your mentee and influence him/her through constructive feedback.
7. Always explore positive and negative consequences of each and every point/matter/issue.

Principal
College of Pharmacy, Chincholi
Tal. Sinnar, Dist. Nashik

8. Be encouraging not demanding. There is a big difference between encouraging and demanding. Encourage your mentee to complete his/her education and pursue higher learning or professional goals; provide access to varying points of view.
9. Assist your mentee in making the connection between his/her actions of today and the dreams and goals of tomorrow. Don't get discouraged if the mentee isn't turning his/her life around or making great improvements.
10. As a teacher cum guide you can share and advise, but know your limitations. NEVER BE VERY PERSONAL AND SHARE PERSONAL ISSUES. YOU SHOULD PREFERABLY INTERACT WITH YOUR MENTEES IN A GROUP.
11. Problems that your mentee may share with you regarding substance abuse, molestation and physical abuse are best handled by professionals. If you have any concerns, contact the higher authorities immediately.
12. Be supportive of the parent, even when you may disagree. Don't take sides or make judgments concerning any family conflict or situation. Leave the parenting to the parent.
13. There may be instances when your mentee's behavior is unacceptable. Explain to your mentee why you find his/her behavior unacceptable. Don't forget to inform the parent about the steps you took and why you took them.
14. Never use abusive or unprofessional language.
15. Avoid arguments with your mentees.
16. As far as possible female faculty should be the mentor for female students.
17. Always keep record in support of your all actions of mentor mentee programme.
18. Never use alcohol, tobacco or drugs and share your personal things with your mentee.
19. Entertainment is not the focal point of your relationship. Do not spend an exorbitant amount of money for activities like birthday presents, parties etc.
20. Be sure you have parental approval for all activities apart from routine academic activities.
21. If you have a concern you feel is beyond your ability to handle, feel free to contact the higher authorities. Never feel helpless or hopeless.

Academia-Industry collaboration is an interactive and collaborative arrangement or setup between academic institutions (schools, colleges etc.) and business entities to achieve certain mutually inclusive goals and objectives. When both these entities work in isolation then it reflects a gap. There is always a need for collaboration of non-formal education in the formal education structure to increase the youth potential in getting the jobs. Apart from only focusing on the curriculum structure, it is also imperative to provide the right exposure and training to the faculty.

SEVERE COMBINED IMMUNODEFICIENCY

Presented by Disha K. Bari
Under the guidance of Prof. Mayur Galkar

S	C
I	D

CONTENT

- o Introduction
- o Types of SCID
- o Symptoms and diagnosis
- o Treatment of SCID
- o Transplant for SCID

INTRODUCTION

- o It is also known as "BUBBLE BOY" disease.
- o SCID is a genetic disorder in which both "arms" (B cells and T cells) of adaptive immune system are impaired due to a defect in one of several possible genes.
- o Severe combined immunodeficiency (SCID) is a severe form of heritable immunodeficiency.
- o SCID is the result of an immune system so highly compromised that it is considered almost absent

TYPES OF SCID

- o X-linked severe combined immunodeficiency
- o Adenosine deaminase deficiency
- o Omenn syndrome
- o Bare lymphocyte syndrome
- o JAK3 : Janus kinase
- o Artemis/ DCLRE1C

Lymphocyte
6.000

X-LINKED SCID

- Most cases of SCID are due to mutation in the gene encoding the common gamma chain, a protein that is shared by the receptors for interleukins.
- These interleukins and their receptors are involved in their development and differentiation of T and B cells.
- The common gamma chain is shared by many interleukin receptor, mutation that result in nonfunctional common gamma chain cause widespread defects in interleukin signaling.
- The result is near complete failure of the immune system to develop and function with low or absent T cells and NK cells and nonfunctional B cells

ADENOSINE DEAMINASE DEFICIENCY

- It is caused by a defective enzyme, adenosine deaminase (ADA), necessary for purine breakdown.
- Lack of ADA causes ATP accumulation.
- The metabolite will inhibit the activity of ribonucleotide reductase, the enzyme that reduces ribonucleotides to generate DNA.
- The effectiveness of immune system depends on lymphocyte proliferation.
- Without functional ribonucleotide reductase, lymphocyte proliferation is inhibited and immune system is comprised.

OMENN SYNDROME

- The manufacture of immunoglobulin requires recombinase enzyme derived from recombinant activating genes (RAG-1) and (RAG-2).
- Certain mutations of RAG-1 or RAG-2 genes prevent V(D)J recombination, causing SCID.

BARE LYMPHOCYTE SYNDROME

- MHC class II is not expressed on the cell surface of all antigen presenting cells. Autosomal recessive.
- The MHC-II gene regulatory proteins are what is altered, not the MHC-II protein itself.

JAK3

- Janus kinase is an enzyme mediated transduction downstream of gamma signal. Mutation of its gene causes SCID.

ARTEMIS

- The Navajo and Apache population has the most severe form of the disorder. This is due to the gene designated Artemis.
- Without the gene, children bodies are unable to repair DNA or develop disease fighting cells.

SYMPTOMS AND DIAGNOSIS OF SCID

- Children with SCID are at the risk of life threatening infections. From their first month of life, they have infections that may be frequent, severe, long-lasting or hard to treat.
- Infection may occur in the lungs, around the brain and spinal cord or in the blood streams.
- The delay in detection is because newborns carry their mother's antibodies for the first few weeks of life and SCID babies look normal.
- Several US states are performing pilot studies to diagnose SCID in newborns through use of T cell recombinant excision circle.

TREATMENT FOR SCID

- Preventing infections
- Enzyme therapy for ADA deficiency SCID:
The standard treatment for ADA deficiency SCID is treatment with a form of the ADA enzyme called PEG-ADA. Treatment with PEG-ADA is effective in about 90% of children. Despite PEG-ADA therapy, some children continue to require IVIG treatment.
- Gene therapy
A treatment option being studied in clinics from a gene therapy. Gene therapy has shown promising results for some patients with ADA deficiency SCID. At first, gene therapy was expected to be a promising treatment for ADA deficiency SCID, but some children treated with gene therapy developed leukemia. Few trials of gene therapy are in progress, but despite some promising results, gene therapy remains an experimental treatment for SCID.

TRANSPLANT FOR SCID

- The most common treatment for SCID is bone marrow transplantation, which has been successful using either matched, related or unrelated donor, or a half matched donor, who would either parent (haploidentical).
- Consequently, a functional immune system takes longer to develop in a patient who receives a haploidentical bone marrow transplant compared to a patient receiving a matched transplant.
- David Vetter, the original "bubble boy"
- Had on of the first transplantation.

Introduction

- Turmeric is a flowering plant, curcuma longa of the ginger family, zingiberaceae.
- In ayurvedic, it was prescribed for the treatment of many medical problems ranging from constipation to skin disease.

Botanical origin- Curcuma longa
Family- Zingiberaceae
Common name- Turmeric
Hindi name- Haldi
Part used- Dried rhizome

Distribution of curcuma longa

- In the Indian Ayurvedic system of herbal medicine turmeric is known as strengthening and warming to the whole body.
- Traditional uses in India include to improve digestion, to improve intestinal flora, to eliminate worms, to relieve gas, to normalise menstruation, as blood purifier.
- Erode, a city in the South Indian state of Tamil Nadu, is the world's largest producer and most important trading center of turmeric in Asia.
- For these reasons, Erode in history is also known as "Yellow City" or "Turmeric City". India produces 600,000 tons of turmeric annually which is 75% of world production of 800,000 tons.

Natural habitat

- Curcumin is the principle curcuminoid of the popular Indian spice turmeric, which is a member of the ginger family (Zingiberaceae).
- The other two curcuminoids are desmethoxycurcumin & bis-methoxycurcumin.
- The curcuminoids are poly phenols and are responsible for the yellow colour of turmeric.

MORPHOLOGY

1. Macroscopic character

- The main rhizome is ovate or pear-shaped, up to 4 cm long and 3 cm thick.
- The upper part is encircled by leaf-scars; the secondary rhizomes & roots.
- The secondary rhizomes are 0.5-1.5 cm thick, elongated, indistinctly ringed, simple or sparingly branched.

2. Microscopic character

- The transverse section of turmeric rhizomes shows the outmost 4 to 6 layers of brick shaped parenchymatous cork, followed by cork cabin.
- The cortex onset of thin walled rounded parenchymatous cells containing scattered vascular bundles.
- Endodermis is well marked and starch grains (5 to 15 in diameter) are abundant.

- Oleoresin cells with brownish vascular bundles are present in cortex and are collateral vascular bundles in pith region are scattered forming discontinuous ring under endodermis.

Fig. 4 T.S. OF turmeric rhizomes

Pharmacological action of curcuma longa

1. Antioxidant Effect:-

- Antioxidant protect the body from damage from free radicals. water & fat - soluble extract of turmeric & its curcuminoid component exhibit strong antioxidant activity, comparable to vit c.
- A study of ischemia in the feline heart demonstrated that curcumin pretreatment decreased ischemia-induced changes in the heart.

4. Hepatoprotective Effects

- Turmeric has been found to have a hepatoprotective characteristic similar to silymarin. Animal studies have demonstrated turmeric's hepatoprotective effects from a variety of hepatotoxic insults, including carbon tetrachloride (CCl<sub>4</sub>), galactosamine, acetaminophen (paracetamol) and Aspergillus aflatoxin 15.

5. Anti-inflammatory Activity

- The volatile oils and curcumin of Curcuma longa exhibit potent anti-inflammatory effects. Oral administration of curcumin in instances of acute inflammation was found to be as effective as cortisone or phenylbutazone, and one-half as effective in cases of chronic inflammation 16.

2. Anticarcinogenic Effects:

Animal studies involving rats and mice, as well as in vitro studies utilizing human cell lines, have demonstrated curcumin's ability to inhibit carcinogenesis at three stages: tumour promotion, angiogenesis, and tumour growth 17. In two studies of colon and prostate cancer, curcumin inhibited cell proliferation and tumor growth.

3. Cardiovascular Effect

Turmeric's protective effects on the cardiovascular system include lowering cholesterol and triglyceride levels, decreasing susceptibility of low density lipoprotein (LDL) to lipid peroxidation and inhibiting platelet aggregation 21. These effects have been noted even with low doses of turmeric.

6. Antidiabetic activity

- Oral administration of the aqueous rhizome extract of Curcuma longa to the diabetic rats significantly reduced the level of TG, TC, and LDL and significantly increases the level of HDL.

7. Healing property, skin care:

- Oil of turmeric have proved to be antifungal, anti-protozoan, antiviral, and antibacterial. In a screening for antibiotic property, turmeric showed broad-spectrum antibacterial activity.
- Polyphenols, terpenoids present in curcumin fights against free radicals and its high antioxidant content is responsible for healing property and protects skin.

Adverse Effects

- No significant toxicity has been reported following either acute or chronic administration of turmeric extracts at standard doses. At very high doses (100 mg/kg body weight), curcumin may be ulcerogenic in animals, as evidenced by one rat study.
- There are no reported adverse effects of curcumin or turmeric, except rare cases of allergic contact dermatitis.

Contraindications

- The American Herbal Products Association classifies turmeric as a menstrual stimulant and some sources recommend avoiding curcumin in pregnancy.
- Its use is not recommended during breast-feeding, as effects on breast-feeding infants are unknown.
- Turmeric should be avoided in patients with bleeding disorders and bile duct obstruction and should be used only under the supervision of a physician in patients with gallstones.

TRADITIONAL USES:

- It is an essential substance to purify the gum resin of Commiphora mukul (Guggul) before it is made use of in ayurvedic formulations.
- In veterinary medicine, turmeric is used to heal wounds or ulcers of animals.
- Turmeric powder is used as an insect and ant repellent and sprinkled around the vessels to be protected.
- Turmeric and its constituents play an important role in our life.
- Turmeric has been found to have a hepatoprotective characteristic similar to that of silymarin.
- Constituents of turmeric exert several protective effects on the gastrointestinal tract.
- Constituents of turmeric affect Alzheimer's disease.

CONCLUSION:

- Turmeric is one of the most important and powerful plant on earth and is being used as a natural wonder by the ancient people of India.
- Turmeric is proving beneficial in the treatment of many different health conditions from cancer to Alzheimer's disease.
- More extensively well controlled clinical trials are now needed to fully investigate its potential. Because of the presence of curcunoids.
- Curcumin has proven chemo preventive and therapeutic potential and potent pharmacological activities of turmeric at in-vivo and in-vitro which made it a nature's precious drug.

MALNUTRITION SURVEY 2017-18

Date: 12th Dec 2017

Venue:

Village Chincholi, Tal: Sinnar, Dist: Nashik

Organized by:

NSS unit of Pravara Rural Education Society's, College of Pharmacy (For Women), Chincholi, Tal: Sinnar, Dist: Nashik

Surveys to assess dietary intake and nutritional status of the population are essential to monitor ongoing nutrition transition and initiate appropriate interventions. In village, routine reporting of nutritional status by the health and social welfare functionaries is suboptimal. India has therefore invested heavily in periodic surveys to obtain data on nutrition transition. Given its size and variation it is important that at least state level data are available. In view of the known interdistrict variations in the same state and the current emphasis on decentralized district based planning, implementation and monitoring of intervention programmes, efforts are currently under way to collect and report specific data where ever possible.

- Create awareness about nutritional issues and significance of nutrition as an important determinant of health.
